Hey, I'm Mercy Nalubega. I'm a flexible conceptual thinker with an immense passion for fine art, art direction, branding, print and digital design. My work and thought process are guided by the importance of human connection, as I'm passionate about cinema, fashion, and music. I know how to create thoughtful concepts and work under pressure. Using my creative skills & unique perspective, I hope to do meaningful work that evokes feelings and makes positive impact. I'm a friendly & easy-going person who enjoys experiencing new things, perspectives and people. Right now, I'm working towards getting my BAFA degree at Michaelis School of Fine Art. However, I'm always ready to learn and excited to create something special. Looking forward to talking and collaborating!
